

I have been on the CapTel test program for about six months and it has been an absolute Godsend to me. The Veterans Administration has rated me 100% disabled, service connected. I do have some residual hearing and can hear my children's and grandchildren's voices on the phone but with CapTel I can understand what they say. I, no longer dread hearing the words, "please listen to the following menu....". Basically, CapTel has brought me back into the World. I do not know what I would do without it. The test is over in June and I am hoping it will be available commercially as well as affordable.
